

Altemose Resigns As County Democratic Chairman

Van D. Yetter Selected To Fill Position

SHERIFF JACOB F. ALTEMOSE resigned last night as Monroe County Democratic Chairman citing as a reason repeated "unjust" criticism.

At the same meeting Van D. Yetter Jr. was named to succeed the retiring chairman.

Altemose asked the Democratic County Committee to make his resignation effective Jan. 31. Yetter's term will begin effective that date.

In a letter addressed to Mrs. Bessie Altemose, vice-chairman of the Democratic County Committee, the sheriff said:

"As you know I have served as Democratic chairman of Monroe County for nearly three years.

"During this time I have endeavored to the best of my ability to work honestly and fairly for the benefit of the Democratic party.

"Nevertheless, there has been criticism repeatedly directed toward me which I feel to be unjust so that I no longer have the enthusiasm and ambition required to properly perform the duties of the office.

"For the benefit of the party I feel that I should and now do resign as Democratic Chairman of Monroe County, effective January 31, 1957.

"May I suggest that the committee meet on or before Jan. 31 and choose my successor to fill the office for the unexpired portion of my term."

The sheriff's letter of resignation was read to a gathering of about 50 Monroe County Democratic committee members and committee women at the Tannersville Fire Hall last night.

At the meeting, later, the name of former State Assemblyman Yetter was placed in nomination as Sheriff Altemose's successor. His was the only name mentioned for the post.

Election of Yetter to the position was "unanimous," a spokesman for the party said last night. The former representative will fill the remaining year of Altemose's second two-year term.

Following the notification of committee members and women of the chairman's resignation, the work done during the past three years by the sheriff was praised highly by two speakers.

They were Forrest R. Smith, State committee man and Wayne R. Posten, long an active participant in county Democratic party affairs. The two men noted that Altemose had "put in an enormous number of hours day and night in an effort to help in any way to further the future and progress of the party and its members."

Sheriff Altemose talked to the group briefly, outlining his past hopes for the party and discussing some of its goals for the future. He expressed his personal gratitude to all the committee members and committee women for their advice, guidance and help in the management of the party during the past three years.

The incoming Democratic party chairman served one term in the State Assembly. He was defeated last November at the polls by H. L. Cleveland, the Republican candidate, by a narrow margin in the Eisenhower sweep of this normally Democratic county.

In Harrisburg, Yetter worked actively for legislation beneficial to his home area and to the State. He was a member of the key committee studying the Delaware River water resources and the need for flood control following the 1955 flood.

Yetter also pressed for legislation appropriating money to publicize Pennsylvania—and the Pocono Mountains—as a vacation community.

He is the owner and operator of a farm implement business at Marshalls Creek.

During the Democratic National Convention last year Sheriff Altemose and the local party organization were criticized for what observers termed an attempt to "barter" the half-vote of a local delegate in exchange for the ouster of a State Highways Department employee.

The delegate had gone to the convention, critics said, pledged to vote for New York Governor Averell Harriman. Because the local party's officials attempted to exchange the vote for the firing of Thomas McCool.

McCool and Rep. Yetter had been engaged in a running controversy for several months. Thomas McCool's brother, Henry, former chief clerk of Monroe County, had run unsuccessfully against Yetter in the Democratic primary.

Following Yetter's defeat in the election, talk mushroomed that there would be a "revolt" by the insurgent younger members of the party.

No revolt was in evidence last night, as the party gave its full support to Yetter.

Term Change In House Bill

HARRISBURG, Jan. 23 (P)—Pennsylvania's governors would be allowed to succeed themselves for the first time since adoption of the present State Constitution in 1874 under a House proposal.

The measure would amend the State Constitution to permit succession of governors. It would not apply, however, to Gov. Leader.

'Mad Bomber' Begins Tests At Bellevue

NEW YORK, Jan. 23 (P)—Smiling George Metesky began psychiatric tests today, as high police officials delved into questions raised about officers' work before his arrest as the "Mad Bomber."

While Police Commissioner Stephen P. Kennedy defended the work of his men, he acknowledged that they lagged more than two days in picking up a utility company file pointing to Metesky.

However, Kennedy said a check-up on Metesky was set in motion early Saturday as a result of the file's discovery at the Consolidated Edison Co. late Friday. Police did not actually take possession of the file until Monday.

Working

The commissioner said also that officers were working on "a number of other leads which appeared to be almost as good" at the time they learned of the Metesky material Friday night. Kennedy would comment no further on the matter, except to say further checks would be made.

He also left hanging in the air the question of who discovered the material—a Con Ed woman employee or a detective—and who will get the $25,000 reward offered for information leading to the arrest.

As during most of the time since his arrest, the 54-year-old Metesky was still smiling and seemingly happy as he began his psychiatric examinations at Bellevue Hospital.

The tests will last two or three weeks. They could determine whether he will be committed to a mental institution or go on trial for the 16-year-long bombing spree.

Amiable

Hospital officials said Metesky was amiable and "very cooperative." They said he was not isolated but was mingling with other patients. He was committed yesterday.

The district attorney's office said it planned to go ahead presenting evidence to a grand jury without waiting for the outcome of the psychiatric tests. The grand jury study will start Monday.

Metesky confessed he was the man who had planted 32 homemade pipe bombs in public places around New York since 1940, twenty-two of which exploded with injury to 15 persons.

The feverish search for him during the past year developed into what was perhaps the greatest manhunt in all New York history.

Metesky told officers he planted the bombs to get even with Con Ed, for which he formerly worked, because he felt he did not receive proper treatment or compensation for an injury suffered in 1931.

Israel Refuses To Move

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Jan. 23 (P)—Israel refused again today to leave the critical areas of the Gaza Strip and the Gulf of Aqaba until guarantees are made that her interests in those vital areas will be protected.

This was the gist of a seven-page memorandum submitted by Israel to Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld in answer to efforts of the General Assembly to obtain the evacuation of Israel from those areas forthwith.

Israel previously had announced her unwillingness to withdraw from the critical zones without guarantees but the continued refusal took on added importance in view of pressure building up in the Assembly for Israel to leave Egypt without conditions.

Washa Deshishion?

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 23 (P)—William C. Rose, a husky, two-fisted drinker, had his day in court today, fighting a drunk-driving charge. And what a day it was!

He guzzled down almost a pint and a half of whiskey—20 shots of it—in about 4½ hours.

He played cards. "No stakes, you understand. We're in court."

He read magazines and talked. He cracked jokes.

And sometimes he begged for a drink from the horde of newsreel, television and newspaper photographers recording his every move.

Mostly, he drank. And waited. And drank some more.

Torquato Pledges No Fights

HARRISBURG, Jan. 23 (P)—John R. Torquato closed out almost two years' service as labor and industry secretary today with a promise to avoid any "headon fights" with Gov. Leader—the man who fired him.

Earlier today Leader blamed the deposed secretary for "interfering with the orderly processing" of claims in payroll taxes against firms headed by the father of David V. Randall, the governor's executive secretary.

Tomorrow Milton Weisberg, deputy secretary of the department, will take over the duties of the secretary on an acting basis by Leader's appointment.

Torquato, Cambria County Democratic leader, said he failed to see why Leader would "make such a statement" about the Randall affair.

Leader's criticism of Torquato's handling of the Randall affair which involves more than $200,000 in unpaid payroll taxes, was made in a statement which also contained the governor's expression of "complete confidence" in the younger Randall.

Randall's name was projected into the Torquato dismissal in the House last night when Rep. H. G. Andrews, assistant Democratic floor leader from Torquato's home county, claimed Torquato's dismissal was prompted by his efforts to collect back payroll taxes from Harradon R. Randall, father of the governor's secretary.

Young Randall, who joined Leader two years ago as his secretary, denied Andrews' charges that his father's situation prompted Leader's action.

"Let the facts speak for themselves," Randall said in urging newsmen to look at the records of the jobless benefits fund.

A. Allen Sulcove, director of the state Employment Security Bureau in the Labor and Industry Department, showed newsmen the records which showed the elder Randall-controlled firms owed the fund $233,960.

"There is no indication that Mr. G. Andrews, assistant Democratic floor leader from Torquato's home county, claimed Torquato's dismissal was prompted by his efforts to collect back payroll taxes from Harradon R. Randall, father of the governor's secretary.

The elder Randall is an Ashland coal operator.

Department records showed that the four Randall firms on which the department had placed liens to collect the back payments have been defunct for several years and show virtually no assets.

Grand Jury Backs Earlier Findings

HARRISBURG, Jan. 23 (P)—Twenty-two persons were indicted today in Dauphin County Court on charges of conspiring to defraud the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission of 19½ million dollars.

Heading the list of those held for criminal conspiracy were Thomas J. Evans, Coudale, former commission chairman, and James F. Torrance, Export, a holdover member. Both are Republicans.

The grand jury also handed down an indictment charging Chairman G. Franklin McSorley, Pittsburgh Democrat, with misconduct in office, an accusation that bore no relation to the conspiracy charges.

Arlington Williams Explains 'New Tasks' At 42nd Anniversary Meeting Of Kiwanis Club

A TALK centered on the tasks that lie ahead of Kiwanians and other people in the community highlighted the 42nd anniversary meeting of the Stroudsburg Kiwanis Club at the Penn-Stroud yesterday.

Arlington W. Williams, a past president of the club, was the speaker. He touched briefly on the history of Kiwanis from its founding Jan. 21, 1915 in Detroit, Mich., to its present membership of 250,000 men in 4,300 clubs throughout the world.

He also traced a number of outstanding accomplishments of the local club since it was chartered in 1922, mentioning the club's sponsorship of the Stroudsburg Play-ground project and later the construction of the swimming pool. He also recalled that Kiwanians had set up an educational fund to help young people obtain a higher education, and spoke of the financial support Kiwanis had given to General Hospital, the YMCA and other community institutions.

New Goals
But Williams devoted the major portion of his address to new goals.

the "new tasks that lie ahead of all of us." First, of all, he said, we must recognize the changes that have come about in everyday life, and come to grips with the new ideas and new concepts.

We cannot act too independently, for example, in the field of public charity anymore, the speaker noted, because specialized agencies have been set up in each community and, in addition, many of the functions are handled by the state and federal governments.

Williams pointed out several outstanding fields where civic-minded citizens can apply their time and talents to bring out a better community.

These opportunities, he said, exist among three groups of people: (1) juvenile delinquents; (2) talented and ambitious children who need financial assistance; and (3) retired people looking for worthwhile activities in their leisure time.

Although, he added, most people will agree with the need for action, there are too many "gallery citizens" who are content to sit on the sidelines and let the other fellow get down in the grime and dust of the road where the fight is the hardest and the issues of life are resolved.

Rather than refuse to face up to the controversial side of life, Williams appealed to all citizens, especially Kiwanians and those of other service clubs to fight for what we think is right in making this a better community and world.

Newfoundland Area Loses Income As Graduates Leave

NEWFOUNDLAND—A loss of annual income of from $150,000 to $175,000 because of the fact that 85 percent of all Greene-Dreher-Sterling graduates who go on to college or technical schools leave the community permanently was noted at the Monday night meeting of the Rotary Club.

The local unit, which has been conducting a survey as preparation for a program of industrial development, heard James Beamish, editor-owner of the Carbondale Review and former president of the Carbondale Chamber of Commerce at the meeting.

Beamish gave the local Rotarians an account of his own experiences in attracting industry, and suggested a foundation for the program as it should be conducted in this area.

He noted that a survey of available sites, buildings, sanitary and health facilities, power potentials, etc., was necessary as a preliminary to an all-out effort to attract industry.

Marvin Woltjen was named to head a committee which will meet to lay the groundwork before a community meeting is called to discuss the project.

Attending the Rotary Club meeting as guests were these community organization representatives who will return to their units with reports of the meeting: Lillian Akers, Ethel Schoenagel, Order of Eastern Star; Agnes Waltz, Mathilda Osborn, Ladies of Paupack Rebekah Lodge of Newfoundland; Gertrude Lupcho, Anne Smith, Greene-Dreher Woman's Club; Harold Preter, Emil Schoenagel Jr., Greene-Dreher Volunteer Fire Association; Weldon Hector, Phillips-Zacharias-Phillips Post 859, American Legion, Clayton North-up, Leah Scott, Parent Teacher Association; Harold Robacker, Friend Uhl, Dairymen's League; Fred McLain, Community Grange; Isaac Martin, Samuel Green, Dreher Township Supervisors; Walter Malson, George Skelton, William Frick, Sterling Township Supervisors; Royal Krieger, Peter Botjer, and Roland Carlin, Greene Township Supervisors.

Henry Arneberg will be chairman at the Monday, Jan. 28 meeting at Green's Restaurant, Newfoundland.

Funeral services for the late Mrs. Emma Rarick were held at 2 p. m. yesterday at the home of a son, Henry Rarick, East Stroudsburg.

The Rev. Norman R. Savage officiated. Interment was made in Stroudsburg Cemetery. Pallbearers were Oliver Nordmark, Blair Gordon and Grant Rarick. Gantz-horn funeral home was in charge of services.

Nurses Ready To Assist With Shots

MRS. ANN Shafer, State nurse who is in charge of coordinating nurses' activities in the coming mass polio inoculation for Monroe County, said last night that "as always—the nurses in this area will respond to the call of duty to their community without any hesitation."

Mrs. Shafer pointed out that a complete list of volunteer nurses who worked with the initial inoculation of first and second graders in schools two years ago has been maintained.

Contacts
She said that efforts to contact all of those nurses will be made beginning today. Some nurses have already been contacted, Mrs. Shafer said and they have responded "willingly and enthusiastically."

In all cases nurses will be asked to designate the districts and areas in which they would prefer to work during the vaccine program. The

Wrong Way Stow-Away

COPENHAGEN, Jan. 23 (U.P.)—A Spanish seaman stowed away aboard the Danish Oluf Sven in Montevideo believing it was sailing for the United States. At sea he found it was bound for nearly a year with the British antarctic expedition. A report here says he has agreed to work away his wrong-way passage.

Inoculation is being set up under the guidance and sponsorship of the Monroe County Medical Society.

Borough police said the intruders broke a window to enter Traders Flour & Feed Co., 285 Washington St. They broke a glass panel in a door of Pat & Red's Tire Shop, 289 Washington St., in an effort to gain entrance there.

Monroe County's Share Of New Budget Would Reach A Whopping $17,040,000

What Monroe County taxpayers will shell out to Uncle Sam in the event Congress approves the record peacetime federal budget of 71.8 billion dollars is revealed in figures released yesterday by the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce.

The cost is a staggering $17,040,000, which is only $5,141,000 less than this county's $22,181,000 assessed valuation of all taxable real property for 1955 county tax purposes.

For Pennsylvania taxpayers as a whole, the ultimate cost in direct and hidden federal taxes was placed at approximately $5,011,640,000, which is 300 million dollars higher than the current year. This was computed by the State Chamber on the basis of a statistically-weighted formula which shows that Pennsylvanians pay 6.98 percent of the cost of running the Federal Government.

Monroe County's potential tax liability under the 1958 federal budget, which covers proposed spending in the fiscal year starting July 1, 1957, takes on more meaning when it is compared with industrial and salary payments.

According to the State Department of Internal Affairs, total wages and salaries paid to employees in the industries of Monroe County totaled $13,220,000 in 1955. This is $3,818,000 less than the federal tax bill that faces residents of the county for one year's federal spending.

Pennsylvania's estimated federal tax share is equal to almost four-fifths of total wage and salary payments to industrial employees in this state in 1955. The wage and salary total was $6,367,000.

The statewide total of property assessments for county tax purposes amounted to $11,541,000,000, or just a little more than double the prospective one-year federal tax liability of Pennsylvanians. (The total "market value" of such property has been certified by the State Tax Equalization Board as being $28,992,251,900).

Individual county shares of the federal budget cost were computed by the State Chamber by pro-rating the estimated statewide cost among the 67 counties on the basis of population, retail sales, market value of taxable real property and estimated effective buying income.

These figures are brought to the attention of Monroe Countians in the hopes they will awaken all taxpayers to the ever-mounting cost of government and perhaps arouse them into action in the interest of economy.

If you feel that Congress should take steps to slash the 1958 budget, instead of approving increased spending, you can start the ball rolling by addressing a letter to Pennsylvania's two U.S. Senators, Edward Martin and Joseph Clark, and to this district's Congressman, Rep. Francis E. Walter, all in care of the Capitol Building, Washington, D. C.

Let them know your reasons for wanting a reduction in spending and offer any suggestions you have for putting government economy into effect. Who knows, your ideas might bear fruit which every taxpayer can enjoy!

Allegheny County Proposal Would Bring Poconos, Pittsburgh Closer Together

Northeastern Pennsylvania, especially the Poconos, welcomes a movement being launched to link Pittsburgh with the proposed Keystone Shortway by means of a new, limited-access highway.

Communities in the Allegheny Valley are uniting behind Park H. Martin, Pittsburgh's top civic planner, who is leading the campaign for a 73-mile superhighway between Pittsburgh and the Shortway at Brookville.

The highway would follow generally the path of present Route 28 through the Allegheny Valley by way of Kittanning, according to Martin, who is executive director of the Allegheny Conference on Community Development.

Such a route would take most traffic between Pittsburgh and New York and other Northeastern cities away from the longer Pennsylvania Turnpike route. It would leave Philadelphia and Southeastern traffic to the Turnpike.

The Pittsburgh-Brookville link would attract increased business from the Tri-State (Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia) area to the Poconos by shortening the distance between the two points. By the same token, local motorists and truckers destined for the Tri-State district would have the advantage of an almost direct route, with few or no traffic lights to deter them.

It is gratifying to observe that the Pittsburgh area has reaffirmed its support of the Stroudsburg-Sharon route and is taking steps to use the Shortway to its own advantage, while bringing Pittsburgh closer to this part of the state.

We recommend this type of action to other sections of Pennsylvania which are still carrying on a last-ditch fight in the hope of spiking final approval of the Shortway. Gov. George M. Leader has recommended construction of the Stroudsburg-Sharon route to the U.S. Bureau of Roads, and word of final approval by the federal agency is being awaited anxiously by communities across the entire middle section of the state.

George Sokolsky Says...

Egypt Much Prefers Protective Security Over Guaranteed U. S. Economic Support

It is a function of government to evaluate information that comes from many sources, and to base policy upon a realistic appraisal of data. When those whose function it is to make such an evaluation are conditioned by their prejudices and wishes to reach conclusions based upon nothing, it is likely that policies originating from such conclusions will be erroneous.

I am only a reporter with such limited facilities as are available to a private person; yet it was possible for me to write on January 22, 1947, in this column as follows:

"Arab strength is a reaction to European weakness. It is a definite reflex to the apparent breakup of the British Empire. When the British have left Egypt and India—and possibly Palestine—there is no telling what dimensions and characteristics this revived Moslem power will take on. It may sweep every vestige of the Judaic-Christian civilization before it in the Middle East and on the northern shores of the Mediterranean in Africa. And in Europe it will meet the power of Soviet Russia—as friend or foe, but not as the Defender of the Faith."

During the 10 years that have gone by since this paragraph was published, the course of events has moved with unerring precision as therein indicated. This does not mean that I am particularly wise or even well-informed; it does say that foresight can help those who need to evaluate available data to judge the trend of the times. At the time this was written Nehru was no great factor in world affairs; Nasser was an obscure military officer.

But it could not have been otherwise but that the breakup of the British Empire would lead to political convulsions in Asia and Africa and that a vacuum would appear because some areas of the Earth have a long history of being conquered and a short history of self-government. Egypt and India are such areas. It would be false to say that anything is not subject to change, but the likelihood is that countries accustomed to dependence—will not long remain independent.

At any rate, those in charge of Soviet Policy have assumed that these postulates are correct and they have moved in to fill the vacuum created by the breakup of the British Empire. The American assumption has been that all nations and races are alike, that those who are dependent are only so because they have been conquered and exploited and that given an opportunity, all human beings prefer independence and liberty. There is no historic data to uphold such an emotional view.

Thus far, the Russians have been more correct and more successful as is evidenced by the role of Syria and Egypt and their ability to paralyze both Great Britain and France by confusing the issue in the United Nations. How skillfully the Russians managed this operation is made evident by the double-standard morality of the United Nations vis-à-vis Egypt and Hungary.

In the instance of Egypt, the United Nations was forceful; in the instance of Hungary, the United Nations has been cowardly and immobile. The reason is that as regards Egypt, the United States continues to pursue a policy based upon the assumption that the Arabs ought to favor the West if they are guaranteed economic support. But apparently the Arabic mind does not crave independence but security, and security takes the form of protection, the kind of protection they once got from Turkey, then from Great Britain and now from Soviet Russia.

It was possible to foresee that this would be so when the Arab League was organized in 1945 and received a subsidy from the United States. The United States gave vent to a generosity which was not explainable by any previous experience in all of human history. Such generosity encouraged politicians to ask for more, all the time, and finally to ask for more without any strings attached, which really meant that they demanded the money for nothing. It was a wonderful, if unbelievable formula and stimulated ambitions among the rulers to try to get what they could from other countries as well.

Eventually they found that the Russians had much to give away, too. They gave arms, tanks, airplanes, instructors in revolution and encouragement to war. Against such gifts, what are farm surpluses?

When You See As Well As Hear On The Phone

Of all public services we are blessed with, the one that invariably strikes me just right is the telephone company.

Operators are never out to lunch, gone home, shut down for the week-end or out of sorts like the rest of us. No whining, dejected voices coming at you over the wire with a "Don't bother me" tone. And I still wonder how operators learn to hear involved numbers the first time around, when they sometimes require slow repetition in triplicate for others.

But the telephone companies can stop right here, for all of me. Progress we got. Things are humming. All is well. Let's not carry "helpful" innovations too far.

Perhaps the gadget of the future which proposes to record phone calls when you're out mightn't be objectionable. Might keep a few from spraining ankles trying to reach the phone, never in time. As a poor man's answering service, this contraption is acceptable.

But I find the prospect of seeing as well as hearing telephone callers a bit more than could be desired. (Hello? AL 4391857? My, you're looking well today! Now about that little check you said was in the mail...) And can you imagine being awakened by midnight chatters, greeting you with, "Going to bed a little early, aren't you?" And further—"Say, is that cold cream and pin curls I see? Haven't you heard about the abolishing of nightly pin-ups?"

The United States has more phones in service than any other country—more than 50 million, according to a 1956 figure. Conversations on that 50 million are said to average 385.3 per capita each year. Think what a few wrong numbers would do, with four expressions to match.

It will be even worse in Canada, when and if photography moves in on telephoning. Our neighbors to the North have only 2.6 million phones, but Canadians average 411.3 calls a year. Iceland and Sweden are the only other countries whose bathing average hits in the 300's—with far fewer phones in action. In Great Britain, where people read three times as many books as we do, they use phones very little by comparison. With 6 million instruments, conversations average only 72.9 per Britisher per year. And what, my dear Watson, do you make of that?

Dulles Agrees To Additions To Middle East Policy

Washington, Jan. 23: There is a highly significant development in the backstage maneuvering in Congress on the new Middle East policy.

Secretary Dulles has agreed to two major additions to the plan.

They are democratic amendments to: (1) Put a specific limit on the duration of the proposed far-reaching military and economic measures; and (2) require the President to submit reports on them to Congress every six months.

While indicating willingness to accept these amendments, Dulles is balking at another of considerable moment that is being advocated by Representative Brooks Hays (D., Ark.).

This proposal would expressly authorize the signing of security treaties with "every nation in the Middle East which wishes to be so defended."

Hays' main purpose is to ensure that Israel is included in the new policy.

Secretary Dulles disclosed these unannounced views at a private meeting of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, which has started revising the joint resolution he submitted several weeks ago. Representatives Hays and Frank Coffin (D., Me.), who are spearheading the proposed amendments, are Committee members.

The two being urged by Coffin, putting a definite time limit on the program and requiring the President to report regularly to Congress, are virtually certain to be approved by the Foreign Affairs Committee.

Still undetermined is the length of the time limitation. The Democrats favor two years; the Administration is pressing for three.

The decision is largely up to Speaker Sam Rayburn, Tex., and Democratic Floor Leader John McCormack, Mass., who strongly support such a limitation but have not as yet expressed a preference on its duration.

They are also still considering Hays' important proposal. It has the backing of most of the Democratic Committeemen, but the final outcome is uncertain.

What He Said — Secretary Dulles revealed the Administration's position on the three Democratic amendments in response to questions by their sponsors.

To Representative Coffin, Dulles stated that President Eisenhower is willing to accept a reasonable time limitation and the requirement for regular reports to Congress. But the Secretary of State objected to Representative Hays' proposal on the ground

"the time is not ripe to proceed with security treaties with any country in that area."

The tentative draft of Hays' provision is as follows: "The United States is prepared forthwith, in accordance with Article 51 of the United Nations charter, to enter into security treaties to defend against Communist military aggression every nation in the Middle East which wishes to be so defended. The President is authorized to utilize American forces in the area to carry out this commitment if the necessity for such action becomes apparent."

Highlights of the significant discussion on these matters, as recorded in the Committee's unpublished transcript, are as follows: "Am I correct in stating that you are opposed to signing a security treaty with Israel?" asked Hays.

"There are a multiplicity of problems," replied Dulles, "which have led the executive branch of the government to feel that the situation is not yet ripe to proceed with security treaties in that area."

"What is the Administration's position," continued Hays, "on an amendment evidencing our desire to enter into security treaties with all nations of the Middle East that might want to do that?"

"It would be a very difficult to do that without involving ourselves in controversies of a local character and which do not involve international Communism," answered Dulles. "As far as Israel is concerned, its boundaries are not yet fixed and it is extremely difficult to make a security treaty with a country where there is as much flexibility about its boundaries as there is in this instance."

"There are many other disputes. There is one between Yemen and the British, in which actual fighting is now going on. And the boundaries around the Persian Gulf are quite undefined. These matters illustrate the kind of problems you would get into by undertaking to give security guarantees in an area where boundaries and the future status of some of the countries are uncertain."

Representative Coffin, in questioning Dulles, contended his joint resolution is "vague" in a number of places.

"This is perhaps the most far-reaching and long-term authority ever asked for," Coffin declared. "Would you be opposed to fixing a termination date and requiring the President to make regular reports to Congress on the use of troops and economic aid under this resolution?"

"I feel quite confident the President would not want to exercise this discretion at any time that a majority of Congress felt he should have it," replied Dulles. "And it would be acceptable to have the President report every six months to Congress. Both this and a stronger provision on termination of his authority will be entirely agreeable to him."

Tulsa Chorus Makes Hit In County

By Jim Riley

People who attended the 1957 appearance of the famed Tulsa University Chorus in Monroe County are still talking about the brilliant performance rendered by the collegiate group.

The choir made its appearance on Monday night at East Stroudsburg Junior High School.

A fair sized crowd reportedly attended the show, which will live long in the memory of those present.

Maybe neither the East Stroudsburg Band Mothers or the Varsity "E" Club became rich in a monetary sense, but both organizations won the respect of area residents for the fine production.

The Tulsa Chorus is made up to a great extent of freshmen and will grow even better in future years.

The only draw back to Monday's show is that it came on a day which featured a heavy schedule. But, that's how the ball bounces.

Bob Staph, hill-billy and western music authority from Newfoundland, is back in his home town again after a recent booking tour of Virginia and North Carolina.

Bob is publicity agent for a group of western artists who will make their debut in Elmhurst, Long Island, and Paterson, N. J. this weekend.

Staph still thinks hill-billy and western music will win out over rock 'n' roll.

Wilma Lee and Stony Cooper and the Clinch Mountain Clan will appear at the Portland Fire Hall on Friday, March 8.

Receipts And Fines

Harris, Snyder Release Figures On Borough' Parking

CERTIFIED FIGURES show that the Borough of Stroudsburg collected close to $2,500 more from parking meter receipts, penalties and fines in 1956 than it did the preceding year.

Borough Secretary Harold Snyder made that disclosure yesterday as he sought to disprove certain contentions of Chief Burgess Hal H. Harris relative to meter receipts for the two years.

The mayor pointed to a $1,100 decrease in parking fines last year as proof that the borough's new system of meter administration is less efficient than the old when meters were checked by policemen under Harris' direct supervision.

However, Snyder came up with a set of figures which showed the borough collected $18,569.58 in parking receipts, penalties and fines last year. This is $2,480.31 more than $16,089.29 which went into the borough's coffers from these sources in 1955.

Administration of the parking meter system has been under the jurisdiction of Snyder since March 28th, when the borough council adopted an amendment to its parking ordinance authorizing the employment of meter attendants.

In effect, the amendment stripped Harris of his jurisdiction over the meters and made the borough secretary responsible for their administration.

In 1955, the borough received $36,480.32 in parking meter receipts or $1,057.86 less than the $30,538.18 collected last year, Snyder reported.

der reported.

However, the borough secretary admitted that $1,165.55 less was collected in 50-cent penalties in 1956 than in the preceding 12-month period.

In 1955, when the meters were under the mayor's jurisdiction, the borough received $1,775.25 in penalties from January through March, and $5,832.70 during the remaining nine-month period. This totaled $7,607.95.

Some $1,790 was collected in penalties under Harris' jurisdiction in the first three months of last year, the figures showed. Then $1,632.40 was collected under Snyder from April through December, 1955. This meant a total $6,442.40 was collected in penalties last year.

However, the borough secretary explained that drop off in penalties by noting that actual parking meter receipts jumped better than $4,000 in 1956.

"People are using the meters more according to receipts from the meters," said Snyder.

The mayor also sought to show that parking fines—as distinguished from penalties—had dropped since the new system of administration went into effect.

A penalty is the 50-cent fee charged to overtime parkers who pay their tickets within three days. Fines, which range from $1-$10 are levied against those who fail to pay their tickets within a reasonable time.) Again, figures supplied by the borough secretary showed this to be true. About $411 less was collected in fines last year.

However, Snyder again pointed out that actual receipts from all sources counteracted this fact.

"The mayor failed to point out," observed Snyder, "that we are now making meter collections, and patrols with only two meter attendants, whereas three to four patrolmen were employed under the old system."

Moreover, Snyder noted, the old tickets allowed motorists to mail in a dollar rather than appear at the municipal building. Under the new plan, persons mailing in tickets need only enclose 50-cents.

Harris also had a word to say about "that Cadillac scooter" which the borough purchased for meter collections and patrols shortly after the borough secretary took over jurisdiction of the meters.

"You can deduct $650 for that Cadillac scooter," declared the mayor. "It hasn't been in use for two-and-a-half months."

Replied Snyder: "It will show its value during the Spring, Summer and Fall. However, it's not feasible to use the scooter when the mercury falls below zero."

"Many towns use motorcycles and scooters for meter patrols," he added. "This should show they are valuable for such use."

Easton Youth Pleads Guilty To Charge

PALMERTON — A 22-year-old Easton youth yesterday pleaded guilty to larceny charges involving the theft of a Palmerton man's car last Dec. 30.

James Kessler, one of three youths arrested last week by Stroudsburg State Police on burglary charges, pleaded guilty before Justice of the Peace Earl Henning to charges of larceny of a motor vehicle and operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent.

After the hearing, Kessler was returned to the Northampton County Prison as a parole violator.

Charge

Kessler was brought to Henning's office by Palmerton Patrolman S. A. Hill and Willard Steigewalt and charged with stealing a 1950 sedan, owned by Sylvester Turnbach, 619 Franklin St., Palmerton.

Police charge that Kessler drove the car into Monroe County and parked it near Mount Airy Lodge. His brother, Frederick, followed him in another auto, police allege.

The pair then used the stolen vehicle to rob a Tannersville gas station, and the Mountainhome Diner, police contend. Then they left the Turnbach car there and returned home in Frederick's car. The stolen vehicle was later recovered.

The Kessler brothers and Sheriff Schmidt, Easton, have reportedly admitted a series of burglaries in Monroe and Northampton Counties. All are in jail as parole violators.

Christian Education Council Meets

BUCK HILL FALLS — Fortieth annual meeting of the Christian Education Council of the Congregational-Christian Churches opened at the Inn here yesterday.

The council will make recommendations affecting 800,000 church school pupils in the denomination. Members of the council are state directors of religious education and the staff of the Division of Christian Education of the denomination's Board of Home Missions.

The sessions precede the annual mid-Winter meeting of 500 officials of the church.

Speaker

Rev. Claire Potter, Rochester, N.Y., director of Christian Education of New York Congregational-Christian Conference and chairman of the Christian Education Council, told the 85 educators they bear responsibility, not only for Sunday schools, but also for 230 Summer camps and conferences, all types of laboratory schools and classes. The 150,000 member Pilgrim Fellowship, denominational youth organization, and for providing campus leadership for Congregational-Christian students in colleges and universities.

Dr. D. Campbell Wyckoff, professor of Christian Education at Princeton Theological Seminary, is delivering three lectures relating Christian Education to community life and to the mission of the church.

"It is perilous for Christian teachers in our day to proceed without clear aims," he said. "We have essentially one objective—to enable persons to become aware of the seeking love of God as revealed in Jesus Christ and to respond in faith to this love in ways that will help them grow as children of God, live in accordance with the will of God, and to sustain a vital relationship to the Christian community."

"Acceptance of such an aim implies that we will teach carefully, responsibly, cooperatively, sensitively, creatively, comprehensively and evangelistically," Dr. Wyckoff said.

Medical Center To Serve Seven Counties

MORE THAN half a million people in seven counties in the Lehigh Valley will be able to avail themselves of the facilities of the great new Muhlenberg Medical Center planned for Northwest Bethlehem, according to Henry L. Snyder, president of the hospital corporation.

Snyder pointed out that, although under the sponsorship of the Lutheran Church, the new hospital will be, in every respect, a community hospital serving all the people of the lower Lehigh Valley from Stroudsburg and the Poconos to Pennsburg and Kutztown and will admit patients without regard to race, color, or creed.

It is estimated that the present population of the "service area" which includes Lehigh, Northampton, Monroe, Carbon and portions of Berks, Bucks and Montgomery Counties, is presently 516,872 and that, by the time the hospital opens its doors in 1960, the population will have grown to 568,000.

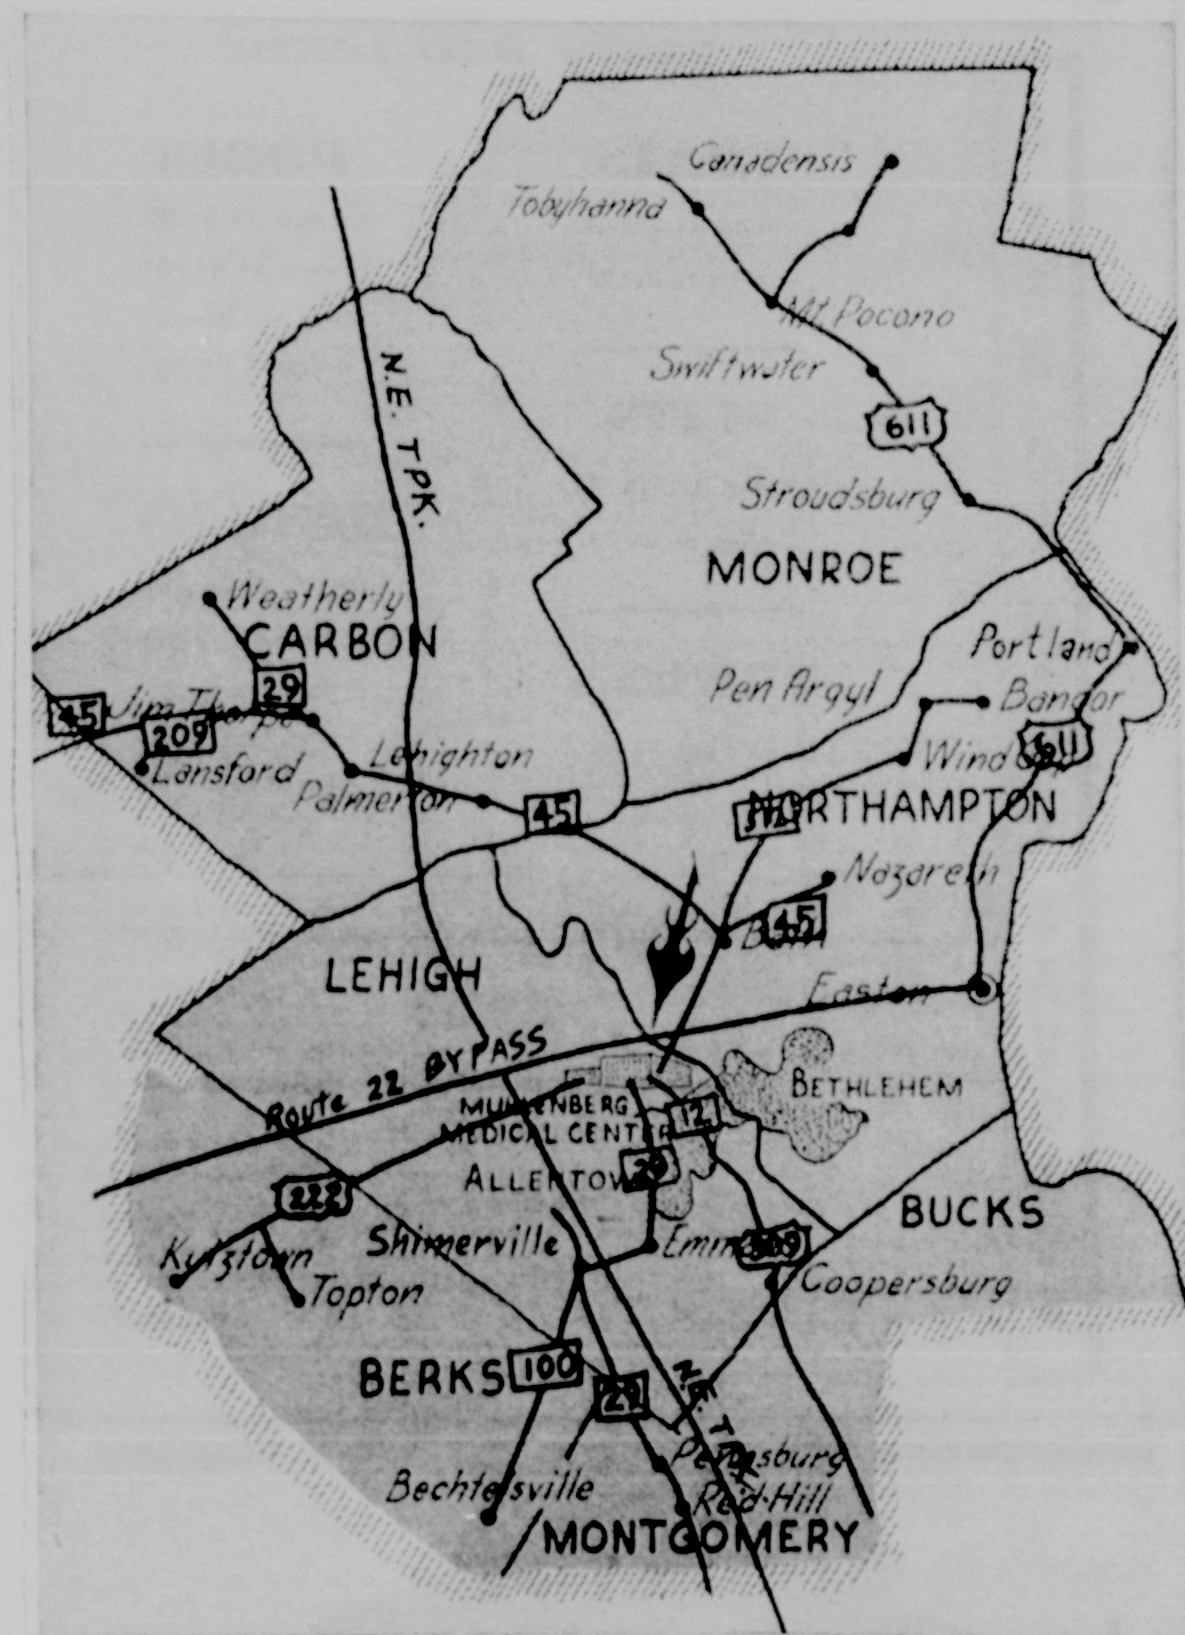

Because of its central location, on the Schoenerville Road near route 22 Thruway in Northwest Bethlehem, the new hospital will be readily accessible to the entire area over well-developed highways.

Recognizing the acute and growing need for beds for the chronically ill in the Lehigh Valley, special units will be provided where such patients will have the advantage of all the general hospital facilities for treatment and the best possible care from the medical and operating staff. Up to 50 percent of the beds in the new hospital will be devoted to chronically ill patients.

A fund-raising campaign to finance the hospital, which is estimated to cost between six and one half and seven million dollars, is presently in the planning stage.

Campaign officials state that a panel of speakers is available to present the detailed story of the hospital to civic clubs and organizations and church groups. Arrangements for speaking dates may be made with Morgan J. Doughton, Speakers Bureau Chairman by Room 411, Bethlehem Trust Building, Bethlehem, Pa. or phoning University 6-6531.

Olaf J. Pedersen, of 612 Bryant St., Stroudsburg, is a member of the hospital advisory board; Judge Chester H. Rhodes, of 706 Monroe St., is vice president of the hospital corporation and a member of the board of directors; and Rev. P. N. Wohlsen, 7 N. Ninth St., is an incorporator.

PARTS OF SEVEN COUNTIES are included in the service area which the new Muhlenberg Medical Center proposes to cover. The center is to be built in Northwest Bethlehem. Above map shows the seven-county area.

Ludwig Remanded To Prison

HARRY MADER Ludwig, 96 Annalinn St., East Stroudsburg, yesterday was remanded to the Monroe County Jail in lieu of $1,000 bail after pleading innocent to being an accessory after the fact in a burglary case.

Justice of the Peace John C. Foelker, before whom Ludwig denied the charge, said the suspect is accused of supplying tools used to "peel open" a safe taken from Mikels Motors in Stroudsburg.

The actual burglary suspects have also been apprehended and are charged with staging several recent breaks in the area.

CONSTIPATED?

New laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks without gag, bloat or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

To regain normal regularity, the dry, shrunken, constipating contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be re-moistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-R-E-T-C-H STIMULATE it to action; to a normal urge to purge.

And, of all laxatives, only COLONOID, the amazing new laxative discovery possesses COLONOID's great moisturiz-ing capacity, plus COLONOID's stretch-stimulating bulk. So effective it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, COLONOID is yet so smooth, so gentle it has proved safe even for women in critical stages of pregnancy. Superior to old style bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONOID neither gags, bloats nor gripes; won't interfere with absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other reactions. It's a physiological fact: Exercise tones your body! And COLONOID exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Get COLONOID, in easy-to-take tablet form at any drug counter, today! Only 98c for the 60 tablet package, brings positive relief at less than 2c per tablet.

Dr. Cohen Presents Slides Explaining Trip To Europe, Near East At Lions Club Meeting

AT A DINNER meeting of the Stroudsburg Lions Club, held Tuesday night in the Penn-Stroud club president Harold Miller impressed on members the importance of the meeting of Jan. 29. This will be the last opportunity to bring in new members for the annual Melvin Jones Birthday Campaign.

Melvin Jones was the founder of Lionism and, each year, groups of new members are received in the order during his birth month.

In the local club a class installation will be featured at the Jan. 29 meeting. Miller urged all members to attend the important session and to bring to a head all pending candidacies for membership. All sponsors were asked to bring their candidates to the hotel by 6:15 p.m. in order that some instruction in Lionism may be given.

Miller appointed Joseph Farda,

Seymour Katz and Dr. Gall Fegley to serve on the charter night committee. The date for holding the annual affair had been tentatively announced as Saturday night, March 9, but this date developed inconveniences and Miller stated that the date now favored is Saturday, March 2.

Chairman

Dr. Fegley served as program chairman of the meeting and introduced Dr. Sidney Cohen, who was one of a group of Monroe residents who enjoyed a recent trip to Europe and the Near East.

Dr. Cohen took a great many pictures of outstanding spots in the countries visited and slides were shown at the meeting. They included views in France, Germany, Italy, Switzerland and Israel.

Dr. Cohen lectured briefly while the pictures were being shown.

No Families Allowed

GENEVA, Jan. 23 (P)—The United States has notified its citizens who work in the U. N. and other agencies that they may return to their posts in Egypt, Jordan, Syria and Israel but without their families.

Many were pulled out and came here in November after Israel, Britain and France attacked Egypt.

Gomulka Wins Bare Majority

WARSAW, Poland, Jan. 23 (AP)—Wladyslaw Gomulka's Communist party came out of last Sunday's elections with 236 seats in Parliament, only six more than a bare majority, unofficial partial returns showed today.

The leader of Poland's independence-minded Communists, however, scored an overwhelming victory for his National Front ticket—made up of Communists and fellow-traveling Peasants, Democrats and Independents—in that only one top-of-the-list candidate failed of election.

Upset

The upset was in Nowy Sącz Province where sheep farmers in the Carpathian Mountains bordering Czechoslovakia withheld more than 80 per cent of their votes from Jan Antoniszak, a candidate of the United Workers' (Communist) party.

He was one of five candidates for three seats in the province. As the result of his defeat a special election must be held within two weeks to fill his place.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Some days it's more fun to talk about people than about ideas. What do I mean "some days"? Well, anyway, today it seemed there was a lot of nice things happening to people.

Marjorie Hamblin was celebrating not only her birthday but also a trip downtown after being housebound by illness since before Christmas.

Word came through of the birth of a daughter, Patricia Ann, to Mr. and Mrs. Ted Wolverson yesterday morning at 3 a. m. at Sayre where they are now living, and that everybody's fine.

Another generation of high school girls are appearing with class rings of tremendous size swinging from chains around their necks. Well, one girl, anyway that I noticed for sure.

Some of our best-dressed women were shopping for new chapeaux and some of their best-dressed daughters, home for mid-semester, were not only shopping, but buying Spring clothes.

And all the women seemed to be feeling, if not asking, "Oh wind, if the first Spring print is hanging in my closet, can Spring be far behind?"

School Board, PTA's Come To Grips With Questions Of Common Interest At Meeting

Who will be housed in the new East Stroudsburg Area High School? Will there be a swimming pool? How is the new building to be paid for? How about such high scholastic standards for athletes?

These and other questions which interested members of the East Stroudsburg and Smithfield Parent Teachers Associations were put to the members of the Area Jointure School board at a combined meeting of the two groups held at the Junior High School auditorium on Tuesday night.

The questions had been submitted in written form prior to the meeting, and Herbert Young of Porter Township as moderator, directed the question to the individual school directors who served as members of the panel.

Interest on the part of both school board and PTA members ran so high that the meeting had to be concluded before the questions submitted late could be considered. Young, as moderator, touched on the traditional pathos between school board and PTA groups, pointing out that as an active PTA member before he became a school board member he could appreciate the similarity of the goals they were striving for as well as their differing viewpoints on how to attain those goals.

That New School The proposed new high school was the subject many of the questions directed to Paul Naudman of Porter Township. The building will house junior and senior high school students while the present junior high school will house elementary grades. How soon will it be finished? It is estimated that after the plans, now in the hands of the architects, have been approved it will take from 18 to 24 months to complete. Will there be a swimming pool? There will be space for a pool, he said, and whether or not it will be built depends on the available funds.

Will there be a home economics department? This question came under the jurisdiction of Lawrence Butz, Lehman Township, who answered questions in regard to curriculum. A complete home economics department will be included, he said, as well as a lunch room, with the kitchen designed to provide lunches for the other school buildings as well.

No Monetary Reward Raymond Hartmann, Smithfield, gave an unexpected answer to one of the questions directed to his field, the duties of a school board. In answer to the question, "What compensation does a school director receive?" He listed the satisfaction of helping to plan the future of your own and your neighbors' children, of trying to provide the best possible education, and the satisfaction of doing an important job to the best of your ability.

The policies of the school board were outlined by Robert Wright.

Triple Opening

The program followed a triple-feature opening, beginning with an open house from 7:30 to 8 in the Junior High School where the parents met with the teachers and home room mothers in the class rooms.

Each PTA also held its own business meeting. Of combined interest was the voluntary signing up for clerical work in conjunction with the polo shots to be given all school children through the Monroe County Medical Society project.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

Every once in awhile I receive a letter which is especially gratifying since it indicates that people are truly accepting me as another of our innumerable Wyckoff services. Wyckoff's has implied for years in its slogan that it desires to be friendly and helpful . . . and it is rewarding to know that ever so many persons regard our store as a great, warm-hearted human being rather than just another sizeable business institution.

I am naturally anxious to answer any questions or letters as intelligently as knowledge permits. But sometimes I feel my readers have me on the spot. They have apparently read into my column something that impressed them as a wisdom which doesn't exist at all. Such is the case shown by a letter from a woman who calls me by name, but signs herself "Hurt and Angry". Just why she's hurt and angry she fails to say . . . but she does reveal, "People seem to take delight in making me miserable. Right now I want to strike back hard. I'm just not bold enough or very clever. How would you go about hurting another woman who had hurt you?"

Frankly, this is out of my line. In some ways I am slow to anger . . . possibly because casual contacts and incidents rarely penetrate the shell of preoccupation that often serves as an armor. Sometimes this is good . . . sometimes it is bad; at least, it's less wearing than to go through life with a chip on my shoulder, or with the constant dread that every harsh word or action is aimed at me. Many very splendid people are like precious violins . . . they require special handling. My correspondent may be one of these. If she is, she undoubtedly suffers sincerely, and could never possibly react to anger as I would suggest. My personal method is to bring an issue right out in the open, and hear the lion in his den. I like this way of handling things . . . for often I have found that complaints become truly comic when put into words and dragged under the spotlight. When this is not so, an out-and-out wrangle clears the air for me much better than any nefarious plotting would do.

One thing is certain . . . I would never advise scheming to hurt, or strike back at, anything. Not because I'm too goody-goody either! But because observation proves that when someone sets out to inflict any injury upon another, he very frequently does exactly the opposite. The wish to hurt becomes a boomerang, and the blows land on his own shoulders. I've seen this happen dozens of times . . . so have you. In the past, almost every one of us has profited, sometimes greatly, as the result of somebody's wish to hurt us. If you doubt this, think back over your own life!

In my personal opinion, tangleing with anyone in the hope of "settling even" is risky. If I have any enemies, I would prefer, as a matter of fact, NOT being even with them. I'd like to think that, when open discussion failed, in some way—preferably by ignoring them—I could hold myself above them.

My younger son is among the many children who have visited our exhibit of "Life of Christ" paintings, and come away feeling that the head of Christ is just about the most magnificent thing he has ever seen. "I'd love to have that picture where Jesus stands with His hands raised in front of Him," he says. "How many thousand dollars would it cost me?"

Actually the original painting would not be sold at any price . . . the Evangelical and Reformed church would see to that. But there are some lovely reproductions offered at very reasonable prices. A study of the face which has so impressed my son sells at 3.00 in one type of frame, or 7.50 in a more elaborate molding. And there are sets of three lithographs at 1.50.

If you have missed the Jacques Baroin show, by all means see it at your earliest opportunity, for it will leave this area—perhaps never to return—in another week.

Disagreeing With Judges One Of Most Widely Enjoyed Artistic Avocations In United States

By Leonard Randolph
NEXT TO AMATEUR painting, disagreeing with the judges in an art show is probably one of the most widely-enjoyed artistic avocations in the country today.

The old battle of the sexes couldn't hold a candle to the hot and intense fury which seems to rage around this controversy over so-called "modern" art.

In the eyes of some viewers "modern" art—a term flung with callous insensitivity at anything and everything which belies literal description—is a "mish-mash," a "flock of colors hurled at a canvas," "a bunch of sneers" and "somebody's crackpot idea of art."

Name almost any strong epithet and you'll find it's been applied, in one form or another to varying trends in art since the beginning of the 20th century.

Because of this, being a judge in an art show is a singularly thankless job. No matter how you pick, you're bound to pick something that someone is going to dislike intensely. Or, as Abraham Lincoln once put it, you can't please part of the people, any of the time with all of a judge's decisions.

Having disposed of this introductory bit, let's consider the current art show at the A. B. Wyckoff department store. It is the 20th annual show. And, by all existing standards, I think it is the finest in five years.

On Saturday the judges looked over the paintings. Their decisions were duly announced in this newspaper on Monday morning. The pointed and somewhat argumentative comments have been flowing ever since.

One of the big things about any art show which is judged is simply that the people who look at the paintings do not look at them through the eyes of the training and the sensitivity of a professional artist or a teacher.

This, I think, is as it should be. The very lifeblood of any art form is controversy.

It is never necessary that the public agree when they are told.

Bond Sales

Hit $1,182,561

MONROE COUNTY residents bought a total of $1,182,561 worth of United States savings bonds last year, County Bond Chairman E. H. Wyckoff reported yesterday.

Of this amount, Wyckoff said, $110,718 worth of bonds were bought in December alone.

State
Meanwhile, Charles S. Krumrine, chairman of the State Savings Bonds Committee, reported that the people of Pennsylvania bought $427-million worth of bonds in 1956.

This figure is the second highest volume of savings bond sales in the state during any year since World War II, he said.

something is good. It is, as a matter of fact, much better if they do not agree. Disagreement breeds discussion. And almost nothing destructive has ever come from discussion—barring the dialogues of Machiavelli with his cohorts and those of Karl Marx with Engels.

If art survives over the centuries, it is basically because it must "break with tradition" periodically. This is a natural, and wholly desirable outgrowth of the imagination and perceptiveness of sensitive men and women.

The focal point of "controversy" in the current Wyckoff show would seem to be Mrs. Morgan Hebard's first prize-winner, "Long View." This is in the vein of painting which does not "state" something about a subject, it merely "hints" at it. It is, in effect, the natural result of a 20th century tendency in all art forms to portray feeling, form and identity through formal placement of key parts of the solid structure.

"Long View" seems, to me, roughly comparable to a poem by Marianne Moore—but it would not bear comparison to the best poem Miss Moore has ever written, to be sure. It is, still, a fine painting, just as this is a fine show.

As I've said before, quarreling with judges' decisions is a good avocation. The decisions in this show are balanced and representative in their own way—there is a "modern" first, a conservative second, a "modern" third and so forth in both professional and amateur divisions.

I doubt that any real exception can be taken to any of their decisions in this show. There are certainly differences in taste where viewers and judges are concerned.

In this viewer's opinion, for example, Mrs. Hebard's finest painting in the show—and the best one she has done for public display—is called "Presentiment" (a judgement or projection of things to come.) It is an excellent painting, the best in the show, and a work of art which is fully and finally realized. It is not "literal" and it is not completely "modern." It has meaning and emotional depth and, to my unskilled eye at least, beautiful technique. It out-paces "Long View" by a long shot.

There are many beautifully conceived and executed paintings in the present show. Artists whose

Admissions
Mrs. Rosa Held, Marshalls Creek; Mrs. Ethel Buenzel, East Stroudsburg; Horace Ruth, Stroudsburg; Clarence Andrews, East Stroudsburg; Mrs. Augusta Werkheiser, Stroudsburg.

No matter which way the pendulum of the onlooker's emotional reaction may swing when looking at these paintings, there will still be strong reaction in nearly all the paintings hung in the current show. For this "onlooker," at least, Mrs. Hebard would still be first prize-winner. In the overall show, including both divisions, even though it might have been for a different painting.

You don't think so? This is what makes baseball the national pastime and causes some people to persist in their dogged conviction that wrestling is not a dead art on television.

It may take two to make a fight. In art it takes three—an artist, an onlooker and a judge to say it's either bad or good.

Six heavily loaded Chevy trucks ran all the way up the rugged Alcan Highway in less than 45 hours! That's cutting more than a full day off the normal running time! They ran right around the clock, stopping only to refuel.

But the important fact about this run was that it proved new Chevy trucks through and through. The Alcan Highway is a supreme test of every truck component. Engines had to prove their power up high-climbing grades and through washouts. Frames and suspensions flexed their muscles over axle-deep ruts and miles of pounding gravel. "And not a single truck turned back or dropped out due to mechanical failure," states the official AAA report of the test. Every model proved its over-all economy by its ironclad ability to stay on the job! Stop by; we'll talk about it.

Coach Of Giants Likes Present Stars

NEW YORK, Jan. 23 (AP)—When oldtimers talk about sports "in the good old days," they usually are gripped by nostalgia. The feats of the athletes of their generation become magnified in their minds. You'd think everyone was an All-American in those days, the way some talk.

It's not so with Jim Lee Howell, who coached the New York football Giants to their first National since 1938. The husky, 6-4, 240-pound former star end at Arkansas and with the Giants, believes many of the erstwhile NFL luminaries wouldn't have been able to be stickouts in modern style pro football. That goes especially for one Jim Lee Howell, he said.

Other Day

"Just the other day I was looking over some old movies of games when I was a player and I was shocked to see the difference," said big Jim today. "We looked slow and flat-footed compared to the way players move today. I'm sure I couldn't have made any of the modern pro squads."

"Take, for example, one of our tackles, Roosevelt Grier. He weighs 285 pounds, but he can move like a halfback or end. He never has any trouble leading in interference. In my day (Jim is 42 and played eight years with the Giants) a big guy wasn't supposed to move."

Thunderbird Invitation Opens Today

PALM SPRINGS, Calif., Jan. 23 (AP)—Exclusive Thunderbird Country Club stages its annual invitational tournament with 40 of the finest professional golfers hooked to begin firing tomorrow for the $15,000 purse.

The course reportedly has been tightened up to give the pros a contest. But it will have to have been toughened up considerably if it is to escape the drubbing it has taken in past years.

Jimmy Demaret toured the place in 64 strokes last year, eight under par, and went on to win the $2,000 first money with rounds of 69-67-69 for 205.

In 1955 veteran Johnny Palmer fashioned a blazing 62. But the best it got Palmer was fourth place when Shelley Mayfield, Mike Souchak and Freddie Haas Jr., wound up in a tie at 270, one shot ahead of Palmer.

Mayfield won the playoff, and with Demaret and Souchak is back for another helping of Thunderbird's hospitality.

West Chester, Indiana Pace Teachers Loop

JOHNSTOWN, Jan. 23 (AP)—West Chester and Indiana today remain the only undefeated teams in the 14-team Pennsylvania State Teachers College basketball conference. Both show a 3-0 log.

However, under the conference scoring system West Chester leads in point standing with 250 to 233 for Indiana. Caliber of opposition determines the points.

Millersville's with a 5-1 record is in third place with 208 points, followed by Shippensburg 2-2 and 162 points and Bloomsburg with a 4-2 mark and 150 points.

East Stroudsburg State Teachers own a 1-2 win and loss record in the loop and has a .102 percentage mark.

Switch On Triumphs In Palm Beach

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 23 (AP)—For-mella Stabile's Switch On, under high weight of 121 pounds, captured the $20,000 added Palm Beach Handicap for the second year in a row as he defeated 15 rivals in the 15th and richest running of the event before 16,916 at Hialeah Park today.

The 6-year-old gelding, making his move entering the home stretch, came on in a spectacular drive under Sammy Boumelles and scored by a length and a half from Pin Oak Farm's Roman Patrol, rigged at 120 pounds. Spring Hill Farm's I Appeal, the favorite, who ran coupled with Ace Marine, was third, just a head back of Roman Patrol. Another length away came the early pacemaker, Admiral Vee.

Switch On, owned by James Forma and Gerald S. Colella, both of New England, earned a purse of $20,750 from the gross of $28,175. He paid $15,000, $6,900 and $3,500. Roman Patrol returned $5.10 and $3.30. I Appeal, with Willie Har-lack aboard, was $2.70 third.

The stake lost considerable interest through the withdrawal of Mrs. John W. Galbreath's Summer Tan, weighted at 128 pounds.

Switch On turned the seven furlongs in a creditable 1:24 1-5.

New York State Athlete Commission Delays Verdict On Featherweight Title Problem

NEW YORK, Jan. 23 (AP)—The New York State Athletic Commission today delayed until Friday any statement on the featherweight title situation while managers of ranking contenders shout for a place in any elimination series.

Sandy Saddler's retirement, announced yesterday by Manager Charlie Johnston, opened the flood gates. Anxious managers sent cables, telegrams and delivered statements on breezy street corners.

Julius Helfand, chairman of the New York commission, said he would have no comment until Friday's regularly scheduled meeting. Presumably he wanted to consult with other boxing men, including the European Boxing Union and the members of the World Championship Committee, before taking a stand.

Fred Saddy, chairman of the National Boxing Assn.'s rating committee, rushed into the fray with a statement that the NBA would recognize the winner of a bout between Cherif Hamia of France and Carmelo Costa of Brooklyn as champion. He said Costa had been moved up to the No. 2 position among the contenders after Miguel Berrios of Puerto Rico lost to Gil Cadilli of San Francisco last week.

As Hamia is ranked No. 1 by both the NBA and Ring Magazine and showed to fine advantage during an American invasion last spring, he seems to be leading the pack. The handsome Frenchman won the European title Monday on a decision over Jean Sneyers in a match for the championship which Fred Gallana of Spain had to abandon because of weight-making difficulties.

From London came an argument that Hogan (Kid) Bassey of Nigeria, the British Empire champ, should be included in any elimination. The claim came from Jim Wicks, manager of Percy Lewis of Trinidad, who is to meet Bassey soon.

From Tokyo came word that the Oriental Boxing Federation was urging the NBA to put Flash Elorde into the tournament. Elorde was Saddler's last opponent in a title defense a year ago, losing on a TKO. He is a ranking Filipino boxer, and had beaten Saddler in a non-title fight.

Jimmy de Angelo, manager of Berrios, the 5-2 Puerto Rican challenger, wasn't so happy.

"Putting Costa up there is a joke," he said. "Why Ike Chesnut knocked him out, and my guy licked Chestnut. All right so he lost one to Cadilli, but most of the papers in Boston thought Berrios really won. We should be in any tournament, no matter what. We licked most of the contenders. Anything the commission wants me to do, I'll do."

Allen, a retired Kansas coach, said he had enlisted the aid of such prominent Kansas Negro graduates as Dowd Davis, general manager of the Kansas City Call; concert singer Etta Moten and businessman Lloyd Kerford to show Wilt "how successful the Negro in Kansas was."

Chamberlain, sought by about 100 colleges after a brilliant schoolboy basketball career at Philadelphia's Overbrook High, received a stream of letters, phone calls and visits during the spring of 1955 telling about the advantages of Kansas.

Finally Allen paid the family a visit. "I always head for the mother. I'm a mama's guy," he explained.

Chamberlain openly receives standard athletic aid—board, room, tuition and books, plus $15 monthly for selling football programs and sweeping the stadium.

Asked about rumors of under-the-table deals, Allen said: "Let's be realistic. Until 1946 I never had any help. Then alumni started to sweeten the pot. Well, I heard another coach charged us with giving Wilt $5,000. Well, if he charges $5,000—and he's sore about it—why then that must mean someone was dickering for less."

In Lawrence today, Allen said "no one needs to infer that Wilt is getting anything under the table. I know of no such arrangement and I don't think there is any."

"I simply said if some of these other coaches or alumni are claiming Wilt is getting $5,000 it must be because they offered him something and didn't get him."

"It is true we used influential Negroes to tell Wilt he would be treated right and benefit by attending Kansas. There never has been any secret about that, I think they told him the truth."

Sports Trail - -

By Whitney Martin

NEW YORK, Jan. 23 (P)—Followers of the also-rans in the American League race, weeping over the failure of their clubs to stem the Yankee tide, might be excused for blurring petulantly: "Don't just stand there; do something."

The cold fact is that with the Yankees finishing nine games ahead of the second-place Cleveland Indians last year, 12 ahead of Chicago, 13 ahead of Boston and 15 in front of Detroit, only Detroit has been doing much of anything to remedy the situation.

With the start of spring training only about a month away there has been brave talk of big deals, but so far it has been the hot-air blasts of winter.

Managers

Three of the clubs mentioned have switched managers, but inasmuch as the managers aren't of the hitting and fielding and pitching variety the changes can't be regarded as improving the playing personnel.

The Indians' biggest transaction Kerry Farrell. Otherwise, aside was replacing Al Lopez with from bringing up rookies for a looksee. Cleveland's activities have been nil, and it continues to ache for a power hit.

The Tribe has a fine young pitcher in Herb Score, but age is creeping up on other members of the pitching staff. There is a well-regarded shortstop coming up from Indianapolis named Larry Raines, and a good outfield prospect named Roger Maris, from the same club, but any rookie is a gamble and pennants aren't won on potentialities.

The Red Sox need help at shortstop and third base, and the talk of deals has been just talk to date.

The White Sox haven't swung a deal, aside from the one they made replacing Marty Marion with Al Lopez.

Detroit at least has been trying. The Tigers got third baseman Jim Finigan from the Kansas City Athletics in exchange for Ned Garver and Virgil Trucks. This will permit them to move Ray Boone from third base, where he is something less than sensational, to first base, which doesn't call for so much ground covering.

Jack Tighe, who succeeds Bucky Harris as manager, has a good young pitching staff that includes such capable performers as Billy Hoelt, Frank Lary and Paul Foytack.

General Idea

There is a rather general idea that the fifth-place Tigers have caught up with the Indians, White Sox and Red Sox. But as far as catching up with the Yankees is concerned, uh, uh.

This lack of trading action which might improve the second, third and fourth place teams is the more discouraging when the Yankees threaten to be not only as good as they were last year, but better.

They have the Mickey Mantle-Yogi Berra punch to start off with, and are solid at every position. They could use more hitting from Andy Carey at third base maybe, but with the hitters at the other positions a club can afford to have one weak spot in the batting order.

The reasons they might be better is that they have rookies of recognized ability coming up, in including three from Denver. Tony Kubek can play left field, third base or the outfield; Billy Richardson is a good second baseman; and Woodie Held can play either the infield or outfield.

The Yankee pitching seemed to come of age in the World Series. In fact, about the only chance the other clubs would seem to have would be if the Yankees heeded their advice: "Don't just do something; stand there."

Swartzwalder To Remain At Syracuse

Special To Daily Record

HEAD FOOTBALL coach Ben Swartzwalder cast his lot with Syracuse University again last night after a month-long mental tussle, over job offers from other universities — notably Southern California.

Southern Cal. led the field in bidding for Swartzwalder's services during the coming year. Yesterday the Syracuse head coach returned from a trip to California during which time he discussed a possible contract with USC.

Back at Syracuse he told friends that he definitely would stay with the Orange team. The Daily Record learned last night. It was a decision bound to strike joy in the hearts of Orange fans in Syracuse, the faculty at the university and other fans who feel Swartzwalder has built a strong football organization — and staff — at Syracuse, during his eight years there.

Swartzwalder formerly coached at Muhlenberg in Allentown. He went to Syracuse from there. Over those eight years he has pieced together a coaching staff which has turned out consistently top-flight teams and players in recent years.

When news began to spread earlier this month that he was leaving, faculty members at Syracuse got up a petition urging the University administration and trustees to "Keep Ben On The Job." Similar petitions made the rounds in the college town and nearby cities. The faculty petition was "unanimous."

Rumors that Swartzwalder might leave Syracuse mushroomed overnight when Syracuse dropped the Cotton Bowl annual to Texas Christian. The rush of faculty and public sentiment backing the coach was interpreted as a tribute to his coaching and his personal popularity within the college community at Syracuse.

State Seeks Fight Purse

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 23 (P)—The state has taken steps to collect $1,000 of a fight purse held in escrow since May, 1955, by former fight promoter Herman Taylor.

The money represents the purse of light heavyweight Harold Johnson for his fight May 6, 1955, against Julio Mederos at the Arena here. Johnson was adjudged to have been drugged prior to the nationally televised fight and was suspended for six months and fined his purse for the bout.

Alfred Klein, a member of the Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission, said that he has turned over to Asst. Atty. General Joseph C. Mansfield, a release, signed by Johnson, allowing the state to collect the money.

INITIAL PLANS were made at the meeting of the Brotherhood of St. John's Lutheran Church for the golden jubilee of the organization of this group. The meeting was held Monday night.

It was decided that a committee consisting of present officers and several past presidents of the organization be constituted to make preliminary arrangements for a dinner meeting on Wednesday, May 15, in conjunction with the celebration of the 90th anniversary of the congregation and the 30th anniversary of the present pastorate. Edward Hardenstine, presided.

The executive committee was instructed to present a definite project for the year 1957 at the February meeting. Last year the men painted the garages of the church on the 10th St. property.

Following the business session members were entertained with an illustrated travelogue by Steinhauer, showing places of interest in Washington, D. C., Louisiana, Texas, Virgin Islands and Venezuela. The next meeting will be held on Tuesday, Feb. 26.

★ If you think this Chieftain Pontiac looks out of place in the low-price field, you've got plenty of company. But there it stands . . . in solidly with the so-called low-priced three—a big, bold, beautiful eye-opener with not a thing to remind you of its very modest cost. Start with looks. Here's the distinction of clean, unfrenzied, straight-to-the-point Star Flight lines that are built in, not improvised. But it's in the performance department that the price guesses really run wild! Drive it and see for yourself. Pontiac's big 347 cu. in., 10 to 1 compression ratio V-8 doesn't know what strain is, no matter what you demand of it. New precision-touch handling makes "driving effort" a term only for your memory book. And the Chieftain's 122-inch-wheelbase Level-Line Ride is so smooth that only the passing road signs remind you that you're earth-bound. In fact, nothing in the low-price field even comes close in power, wheelbase or features! If you think all this is beyond your reach, a visit to your Pontiac dealer for a talk about price will put you in that wonderful club of Pontiac owners who have discovered that it's rewriting the book in the low-price field!

Deadline Near For Statements

EMPLOYERS were reminded yesterday by R. P. Brownell, District Director of Internal Revenue, that the 1956 W-2 tax withholding statements must be released to their employees by Jan. 31. Earlier releases of Forms W-2 will help expedite the filing, payment and adjustment of many individual taxpayers' returns.

With their W-2's in hand, the Director pointed out, thousands of taxpayers will be able to prepare their income tax forms at once and send them in to his office. The address to which returns and payments should be sent is Post Office and Courthouse, Scranton 14, Pa. Make checks or money orders payable to the Internal Revenue Service. Please don't send cash, the revenue office asks.

Some Cases

"To hundreds of our citizens," Brownell said, "the withholding tax represents their entire tax indebtedness. In some cases, there may be a small overpayment or underpayment. Most of these citizens whose income is from wages or salaries of under $3,000 for the year can easily prepare their own income return, Form 1040A, by copying the wages and withholding tax shown on the W-2 and filling in a few other lines. We appreciate the cooperation of taxpayers in filing their tax returns with all copies of original W-2's attached, as soon as possible. That

TWIN TRACTION... a Studebaker-Packard FIRST so good other cars will copy it

WHAT IS IT? Twin-Traction Differential gives you new pavement-gripping traction and new safe control impossible with conventional differentials. The secret lies in the fact that the Twin-Traction Differential delivers the major part of the engine's power to the rear wheel with the best traction—instead of the wheel with the poorest traction (as in a conventional differential). The result—roadability that's better in six important ways:

1. In ice, snow or mud, Twin Traction gets you out of spots where cars with conventional differentials would "spin their wheels."
2. In highway driving, it protects against skids that might otherwise occur when one rear wheel hits a slippery spot.
3. On sharp turns, it improves roadability by applying the major driving force to the inside rear wheel. This also tends to compensate for over-steering.
4. On rough or washboard roads, it reduces the rear-end bounce, sidesway or swerve which results from a fast-spinning wheel suddenly hitting the pavement again.
5. When one rear wheel goes off the pavement onto a soft shoulder, Twin Traction directs the driving force to the other rear wheel, assuring safe, positive control.
6. In ordinary driving, Twin Traction cuts tire wear by assuring more positive traction.

Test it, yourself, today. See your

Draperies. Rug Dominate Decorations

HOME IS getting to be a coordinated decorating project. One takes a theme or a color scheme and develops it into the home decor. Sometimes the decorative accent in a rug or draperies sets the idea in motion.

One way to experiment with this idea is in the dining room. There you can coordinate your table—linens, glassware, china, silver.

You may choose your favorite design in tableware and use it even in a mobile to provide interest above the table. If you love a particular season—spring, summer, autumn—play up that theme all the year round with a design of seashells, boats or floral shapes for summer; leaves, acorns and golden hues for autumn.

One woodland mobile modeled after a set of everyday crystal is always attractive.

Materials Needed

Making it requires heavy paper, pencil, scissors, small round-nose pliers, an awl or center punch, 006 gauge sheet metal (brass was used to provide a gold color without painting), 16 gauge galvanized iron wire, a spray paint in orange.

Here is the construction procedure:

Draw, free-hand, the designs from glassware or china on the paper, cut out the shapes and trace them on the sheet metal. Cut the shapes from the sheet metal with scissors. With a center punch, make a hole in the shapes about one-half inch from the top. Choose two shapes you wish to appear at the bottom, placing them as far apart as you want them to be, measure that distance on the wire, adding an inch and a half for the connecting loops and balance loop. At each end of the wire arm, make a loop by bending the wire back against itself with the pliers.

Finding Balance

You can find the balance point of the arm by resting the arm (with two shapes attached) across your forefinger. Make a loop at this point by bending the wire arm back against itself and on around to its original position. Choose the shape you wish to appear above the first two, measure the arm, attach the shape to one end of the arm, making a connecting loop at the other end. Attach this loop to the balance loop of the first arm. Find the point of balance by holding this arm at various places until the mobile is balanced to suit your taste, make a balance loop, and proceed in this fashion until all of the shapes are attached and the mobile is completed.

Spread newspapers on the floor, place the mobile on them and spray the shapes that require paint. Then hang your woodland mobile up to dry.

Apply Enamel Undercoat

IF YOU'RE changing the color of your garden furniture radically when you repaint it, it's a good idea to apply enamel undercoat before you begin with the new color.

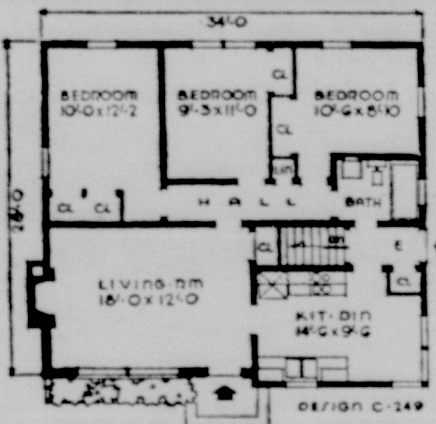

This is especially advisable if you're switching from a dark to a light hue.

Prevent Wood Decay

OUTSIDE porches and platforms often decay from accumulated moisture. Three types of wood are particularly recommended for this type of building, because of their high resistance to weather and decay. When building outdoor structures, consider western red cedar, redwood or southern cypress.

A SMALL HOUSE PLANNING BUREAU DESIGN NO. C-249

DESIGN C-249. This compact plan has three bedrooms across rear, living room and combination kitchen-dinette in front. Exterior finish consists of wide siding, stone facing on front living room wall and asphalt shingles. Wide roof overhang shelters picture window, entrance and planting space. Kitchen cabinets line opposite walls with refrigerator and range on inside and double compartment sink under window.

Plans show a fireplace, double glazed picture window, stone planter, full basement, wardrobe closets, linen cabinet and coat closet at each entrance.

Floor area is 967 sq. ft. with cubage of 17,890 cu. ft.

For further information about DESIGN C-249, write to the Small House Planning Bureau, St. Cloud, Minn. In Canada, write to the Small House Planning Bureau of Canada, St. John, New Brunswick.

Old Leather Articles May Be Renewed Quite Simply

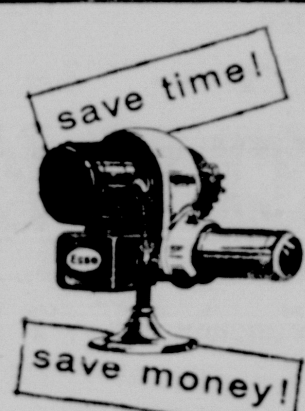

OLD LEATHER ARTICLES such as chairs, luggage, etc., if they are not seriously damaged can be renewed quite simply.

First wash the article with saddle soap, which can be bought in leather goods and some other stores.

Sponge

A damp sponge is a good means of applying the saddle soap. When it is quite dry, polish it with neutral shoe cream, or if it is available, with a leather renewer dressing.

File With Forward Motion

WHEN FILING metal, be sure to do all of the cutting with the forward motion of the file. If heavy pressure is used on the back stroke, it will close the file grooves by bending over the undercut ridges.

To clean a file or rasp, keep a file card (a stiff metal, brush-like tool) and a wire brush handy.

Cleaning

Use the file card to clean the harder deposits, the wire brush for the remainder.

When filling paint or rasping soft wood, use the wire brush often to prevent the grooves and teeth from becoming clogged and riding over the work. Brush a little oil over the file faces to prevent rust.

Different Finish Now Available

A DIFFERENT finish for ready-to-paint furniture is available with the transparent color stains that come in a wide variety of new hues.

There are still the old standbys which simulate mahogany, walnut, maple and redwood and other stains are available which can be used in obtaining bleached effects.

Prepare Surface For Wallpaper

IF YOU'RE planning to put new wallpaper in a room, make sure that the wall surface is properly prepared.

Any loose grease or dirt stained paper should be removed by soaking with a brush dipped in warm water, then scraped with a putty knife. Wash all paint with soap and warm water and remove any scaly paint, calcimine or whitewash.

Provide Vapor Barrier For Ceiling

TO PREPARE for next winter when excess humidity condenses in unheated attic spaces, provide a ceiling vapor barrier to keep room moisture from rising.

If the attic is readily entered, staple an aluminum and kraft paper vapor barrier to the top of the ceiling joists.

Paint

If attic entry is difficult, paint ceiling of rooms with one heavy coat of aluminum paint, then cover with two coats of flat or enamel.

This provides adequate barrier for most room moisture. It will also reduce convection heat loss from the house.

Prevent Bit From Splintering

TO PREVENT an auger bit from splintering the far side of a piece of wood, clamp on a second piece, and the bit will drill right on into it, without tearing the original wood.

When drilling metal, a second piece clamped to the stock being drilled will prevent the drill from grabbing and whipping when it penetrates the stock.

Clay Picks Up Light Bulb Splinters

WHEN A light bulb shatters against a hard surface, dozens of little splinters and shards are formed. These particles are almost impossible to spot, and almost as hard to sweep up.

Left on the surface they are a danger to unwary hands or feet.

Invisible

A bit of children's modeling clay, worked into a pliable ball in the hands, will serve to pick up the almost invisible pieces.

Stroke the ball gently over the floor everywhere the glass could have gone. When finished, throw the clay away. Masking tape will do the trick also.

Don't Mar New Floor

DON'T TRY walking over a freshly sanded floor with shoes on for they may leave marks which will be difficult to remove from the raw wood. Either don't wear shoes at all or pull a pair of old socks on over the shoes.

There's nothing like it for beautiful, smooth room decoration. Gorgeous colors that dry in one hour, make painting easy—even if you've never painted before!

Fill Joint With Iron Cement

THE HORIZONTAL and vertical sections of a concrete laundry tub sometimes separate, allowing water and dirt to collect in the crevice.

This condition can be remedied by cutting a fairly deep wedge into the joint where the two sections meet, then filling it with iron cement made of patching concrete. Or the joint can be filled with powdered litharge and glycerine.

Curtain Mending

A TORN plastic curtain can be mended invisibly by careful application of cellophane tape to the inside of the curtain. This same process may be adapted to torn window shades, using transparent or colored tape.

Adventists To Support TV Program

"TELEVISION is the preacher's passport through the brisk jungles of today's crowded cities," says William R. Bornstein, pastor of the Stroudsburg Seventh-day Adventist Church.

Pastor Bornstein has announced plans for special financial support of the denomination's television program, "Faith for Today." Television is important because it brings the lively church into homes that know no other church contact, he said.

"Faith for Today" is currently seen on 160 stations in North America and 18 overseas. The latest are stations in Melbourne and Sydney, Australia. The program has been chosen by the armed forces of the United States for showing to their personnel overseas.

Format

The format of the program is described by James E. Chase, associate director of the denomination's Radio and Television department, as a telecast designed to "reveal Christianity in its most practical concepts in everyday life. The Old Book, which has been the target of critics for centuries, contains modern solutions for modern problems," Chase says.

Proof that people know this to be so, the radio-TV executive adds, may be seen in the eight to ten thousand letters received each week at the "Faith for Today" headquarters alone.

DEADLINES

Advertising copy deadlines, just as news copy deadlines, are necessary . . . in fact, are imperative to the publication of a newspaper.

Enforcement of deadlines makes it possible to give readers a better newspaper, delivered on schedule. A better newspaper, promptly delivered to all sections of the trading area, means a better advertising medium.

It follows that adequate time for the proper handling of advertising copy, without interference with the mechanics of news production . . . and without jeopardizing the "on time" delivery of the newspaper . . . permits the better handling of advertising copy to work to the advantage of the advertiser in a better advertising medium.

In the interest of better serving ALL advertisers, all copy for display advertising, including CLASSIFIED DISPLAY, must meet the following deadlines:

Monday Copy . . . . . 5 P.M. Friday
Tuesday Copy . . . . . 12 Noon Saturday
Wednesday Copy . . . . . 5 P.M. Monday
Thursday Copy . . . . . 5 P.M. Tuesday
Friday Copy . . . . . 5 P.M. Wednesday
Saturday Copy . . . . . 5 P.M. Thursday
(Holiday Intervening—5 P.M. 3 days before publication)

When Proof Is Required
Prior To Publication of the Ad

The Deadline Is Noon
(Instead of 5 P.M.) on the days indicated above

Shrubs, Fruit Trees Feel Pinch Of Sub-Zero Freezing

By George Abraham
WINTER INJURY: With winter temperature dropping to a low of 25 degrees below zero, or even lower, it's quite likely that many ornamental shrubs and fruit trees will be injured. It's too early to evaluate the extent of the damage, but fruit specialists feel it's advisable to delay pruning operations until after February on stone fruits (such as pears, etc.), also to withhold grape trimming, and if possible apples and pears. Peaches and sweet cherries have no doubt been seriously injured by the cold, and sour cherries as well as other fruits have probably suffered some bud and wood killing. Elevation, nitrogen content in the soil, soil drainage, crop load last year, and variety can affect the degree of damage.

So don't further the damage done to winter-injured plants by pruning now. Wait until February or March and you'll help save your trees from being damaged further, according to the specialists. Incidentally, during the low temperatures you may have heard trees exploding with a loud report. This is due to low temperatures, and we've already seen a few such trees with the bark raised away from the trunk.

Question Box

E. R. of Canadensis: "We have a six foot rubber plant. Could it be cut back and allowed to make new growth all over again?"

Cutting back a tree-like rubber plant would only shock it and cause the plant to die. It's the nature of these plants to grow more or less spindly, rarely branching. There's no way to prune it back as you would many other plants, but one way to reduce the height is to try "air-layering" it. To do this you simply slit the stem partly thru (at a height about half way up the stem, or less). Then wrap the slit with a ball of sphagnum moss and keep constantly moist. To hold the moisture you wrap polyethylene film (the same kind carrots come in) as this holds the moss together and keeps it moist. Air-layering is best done in spring. After the roots are formed in the moss (takes about 3 months) you can cut the rooted part off and repot in a good soil mixture. You can save the bottom part of the plant as it will probably send out 3 or 4 shoots after a period.

As for care the rubber plant likes semi-shade, ample moisture and liquid feeding once a month. Keep the foliage cleaned off, using soap and warm water. Incidentally, be on the lookout for a rust-like condition of the leaves of this plant. This fungus disease appears as a scorching and tip burn on foliage, with tiny, rose-colored pustules. Dusting with captan or sulfur checks this. Then too there's a leaf scorch condition due to dry air in too hot a room. Ample water and an occasional syringing will prevent this.

S. E. of E. Stroudsburg: "Read your notes about clover mites and agree that they are truly serious. I tried Malathion by the gallon with no success, but by using a sulfur-rottenone dust which you mentioned sometime back, we had almost complete control. We mixed 90% dusting sulfur with 10 per cent ground rotenone. Rotenone is an old fish poison made from the roots of plants known as Derris or Cube, found in South America. Dust the ground at least 3 ft. around the foundation of the home. Also dust between the storm and inside windows. Have also used it in the cellar, as cellar windows were always covered with the

Proposals Made To Limit Nuclear Tests

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Jan. 23 (AP)—Three new proposals to limit, control or register future nuclear test explosions were submitted to the U. N. today amid growing demands for some sort of action now.

The proposals were laid before the General Assembly's 80-nation Political Committee a few hours after the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission reported the Russians had set off at least their fifth nuclear explosion since last August.

New Plans
While the new plans were not directly inspired by the Soviet action, their sponsors made it clear that they were becoming increasingly concerned over the continued experimental blasts and wanted to introduce some measure of international control or supervision before serious damage resulted.

One of the new proposals was offered by Japan, Canada and Norway which called for a system of advance registration of all nuclear tests and for observation of the radiation results by U. N. experts. This appeared to have wide support.

Sweden went further and proposed that all nuclear explosions be banned until the U. N. Scientific Committee on the Effects of Radiation had completed studies now in progress. This, in effect, would amount to a two-year moratorium.

The third plan was suggested by the Philippines. It proposed that the Western Powers and Russia agree on a common testing ground as the only place where nuclear explosions could take place. The tests would be registered and each country would be limited as to the number and size of explosions permitted in any one year.

No Sign
There was no sign that Russia would support anything less than its own proposal for an immediate ban on all test explosions.

A British spokesman told newsmen that Britain would support the Japanese-Canadian-Norwegian proposal.

The United States declined immediate comment. It was pointed out, however, that U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. previously had suggested that a plan for advance registration of test explosions might be worked out as a preliminary step toward an eventual ban on nuclear tests.

Meanwhile, Canadian Foreign Secretary Lester B. Pearson said a new resolution would be submitted soon calling for new disarmament talks in the U. N.'s five-nation disarmament subcommittee made up of the United States, Russia, Britain, France and Canada.

Britain Asks For Date

LONDON, January 23 (AP)—The Foreign Office said today Britain has asked Jordan to suggest a time and a place for immediate discussion on the future of the 1948 treaty of alliance, which Jordan wants to junk.

Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's government was described as anxious that the treaty, due to run until 1968, should help maintain and strengthen their traditional friendship "and not stand in its way."

Jordan's pro-Egyptian Parliament demanded last fall that Jordan abrogate the treaty, which obliged Britain to subsidize the Jordanian army in return for air and artillery bases on Jordanian soil.

Nation Nears Abundance Age

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 (AP)—The National Planning Assn. said today the nation must be prepared to double its "social overhead costs" as it approaches an age of abundance.

These costs, representing an investment in such things as schools, hospitals, roads, airports and water conservation, ran about 42 billion dollars in 1955, the private study group reported.
